7 Nation Army

I'm gonna fight it off!

I get a kick out of stadium and arena chants. At the height of the Buffalo Bills and Kansas City Chiefs football game last month, the Buffalo Bills fans, braving the cold and bearing their naked chests started singing oh, oh, oh, oh, oh . . . alluding to the White Stripes "7 Nation Army song". It is interesting how a song becomes a sports chant. That song is so far from being about sports. But there it is, and I must say that thousands of people singing the riff to the 7 Nation Army is chilling, not just watching the idiots bear chested in the stands. That many people getting that excited to sing a song is spine tingling. In unison none the less. A seven nation army? I don't know if that could ever happen, who would lead? I do know that if I was going to pick an army out of seven MFJ products, this is what I would go for!
